Declines The Offer

Great Britain's Answer to Proposal of the Dutch Government.

Adheres to Intention Not to Permit Intervention by Foreign Power.

And Declines to Deal With the Boer Delegates in Europe.

London, Feb. 4.—The British government has replied to the communication of the Netherlands that if the Boers in the field desire to negotiate for peace, negotiations can be entered into, but only in South Africa. The British government adheres to its intention not to accept the intervention of any foreign power.

The text of the reply of the British foreign secretary, Lord Lansdowne, to the Dutch government is as follows:

"Foreign Office, February 3, 1902.

"Sir: You were good enough to lay before me, on January 25, a communication from the Netherlands government, in which it was proposed that, with the object of bringing the war to an end, His Majesty's government might grant a safe conduct to the Boer delegates now in Holland, for the purpose of enabling them to confer with the Boer leaders in South Africa.

"It is suggested that, after a conference, the delegates might return to Europe, with power to conclude a treaty of peace with this country, and the Netherlands government intimate that, in this event, they might at a later stage be instrumental in placing the Boer plenipotentiaries in relation with plenipotentiaries who might be appointed by His Majesty's government. The Netherlands government intimate that if this project commends itself to His Majesty's government, they will inquire of the delegates whether they are prepared to make the suggested visit to South Africa. It may, therefore, be inferred that the communication I received was made on the responsibility of the Netherlands government alone, and without authority from the Boer delegates or leaders.

"His Majesty's government have given it their best consideration, and whilst they entirely appreciate the motives of the humanity which led the Netherlands to this proposal, they feel they must adhere to the position adopted, and clearly announced by them some months after the commencement of hostilities by the Boers, that it is not their intention to accept the intervention of any foreign power in the South African war.

"Should the Boer delegates themselves desire to lay a request for some months before His Majesty's government, there is no reason why they should not do so.

"But His Majesty's government obviously are not in a position to express an opinion on any such application until they have received it and are aware of the precise nature and grounds whereon the request is made.

"I may, therefore, point out that it is not at present clear to His Majesty's government that the delegates retain any influence over the representatives of the Boers in South Africa, or have any voice in their councils. They are stated by the Netherlands government to have no such letters of credence or instruction of a later date than March, 1900.

"His Majesty's government and the powers of government, including those of negotiation, were now completely vested in Mr. Steyn for the Boers of the Orange River Colony, and Mr. Schalk Burger for those of the Transvaal. If this is so, it is evident that the most satisfactory means of arranging a settlement would be by direct communication between the leaders of the Boer forces in South Africa and the commander-in-chief of His Majesty's forces, who has already been instructed to forward immediately any offers he may receive for the consideration of His Majesty's government.

"In these circumstances, His Majesty's government have decided that if the Boer leaders should desire to enter into negotiations for the purpose of bringing the war to an end, the negotiations must take place not in Europe, but in South Africa.

"It should, however, be borne in mind that if the Boer leaders are to occupy time in visiting in South Africa, consulting with Boer leaders in the field, and in returning to Europe for the purpose of making known the results of their errand, a period of at least three months would elapse, during which hostilities would be prolonged and much human suffering, perhaps needlessly, occasioned.

"I have, etc., "LANSDOWNE."

"The text of the communication of the Dutch minister in London to Lord Lansdowne, is as follows:

"In the opinion of the government of His Majesty the Queen, the exceptional circumstances in which one of the belligerent parties in South Africa is placed, which prevents it from communicating directly with the other belligerent, and the reason for the prolongation of the war, which is still raging without pause or end, and which causes so much misery.

"It is, in fact, an exceptional circumstance, that one of the belligerent parties is completely isolated and separated from the rest of the world, and that the Boer representatives in Europe are deprived of all means of communicating with the general commanding their forces. The difficulty arises from the fact that the Boer side is divided into two sections which are deprived of all means of deliberating together. It is evident that the Boer delegates in Europe cannot do so, because they do not know the state of affairs in Africa, and that the Boers in the field are obliged to abstain from taking any steps because they are not cognizant of the state of affairs in Europe.

"Moreover, the delegates in Europe are bound by their letters of credence, which were drawn up in March, 1900, which bind them so strictly to the independence of the republic that they could not even be permitted to accept the re-establishment of the status quo ante bellum if a mode of settling disputes which might arise were not laid down at the same time. These circumstances give rise to a question whether the offer of a neutral power in order to render at least possible negotiations, which otherwise could not be opened, for this reason, it would be important to ascertain whether it would be agreeable to the British government, to make use of the good offices of a neutral power if such good offices are confined to the task of placing in communication the negotiators to be appointed by the two

Large Number of Private Bills to Come Before Parliament This Year.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—The estimates next session will include appropriations to provide for wireless telegraphic apparatus at various lighthouses, which will permit vessels reporting more speedily than is possible with the flag signals now in vogue. It is calculated that the outlay will be about $5,000 for each station. The Department of Public Works has been asked to arrange for the installation of wireless telegraph across the Straits of Northumberland, which separate Prince Edward Island from New Brunswick.

A NEW TRIAL.

Nightingale v. Union Colliery Being Heard in Vancouver.

Vancouver, Feb. 4.—(Special)—The Supreme court, Mr. Justice Irving presiding, was hearing evidence all day today at the re-trial of Nightingale v. Union Colliery. Three years ago a freight train crossing the Tuent bridge was wrecked, owing to the bridge collapsing. Several passengers were killed. Plaintiff was severely injured and sued defendants, who were operating the train, for $4,000. The jury gave plaintiff $7,000 damages. The case was appealed to the Full court on the ground that the train wrecked was a freight and passengers were not supposed to ride on it. An appeal was allowed and a new trial ordered. On the ground that the statement of plaintiff, that the Union Colliery company had been accustomed to carrying passengers on their freight trains, had not been sufficiently proven. Thus the present trial is being held over again.

At the annual meeting of the Vancouver Rifle association G. R. Maxwell, M. P., was chosen honorary president; Dr. Bell-Irving, president; Capt. Tatlow, M. P., vice-president; Mr. McIntosh, captain; W. H. Forrest, first lieutenant; Jas. Selator, second lieutenant; Norman McLeod, secretary.

President A. T. Wilson and Vice-President J. L. Brotherton of Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, were in the city last night, and spoke to a number of railway men at Labor hall on "Capital and Labor." Mr. Wilson said capital was the child of labor; that the actual amount produced per man by labor in the United States was $4,000, and $400 per man was paid out in wages. Thus those who did not work, but had champagne appetites, drew, in dividends, $1,500.

Annual Meeting of the Club and Election of Officers for the Year.

Report of Managing Committee and Adoption of Their Recommendation.

The annual meeting of the James Bay Athletic association was held in the club room last evening. There were 45 members present, and the meeting was most enthusiastic, angling well for the club. The interesting discussion, received and adopted. The following officers were then elected for 1902: Managing committee, H. D. Heineken, K.C., M.P.P. (chairman), D. O'Sullivan, J. H. Lawson, Jr., D. O'Sullivan, J. H. Russell, J. C. Moreby, A. E. Todd, E. Austin, W. C. Bridgman, J. Hunter; trustees, H. D. Heineken, A. E. Todd, A. J. Dallain, W. A. Lawson, D. O'Sullivan.

Mr. Ross Munro was re-appointed auditor for the ensuing year. In their annual report, the managing committee declare the past year to have been one of the most satisfactory in the club's history. The membership increased from 177 to 203.

The year's receipts were $2,507.40; expenditures, $2,000.00, leaving a balance of $507.40. The report was read, and it was decided that there is no other club in the city to compete against. The club tournament in November was most successful.

The increased attendance at the gymnasium is mentioned with satisfaction. Referring to whist, the report states that duplicate whist games have been held each week for three months past, and it is hoped that a tournament will be played with Seattle during the present month. In two tournaments with Victoria teams the J. B. A. A. has been successful.

The boat house and boats have been overhauled and placed in good shape, and the boat house has been pretty well patronized. Canoeing was indulged in more last season than for several years back. Two new four-oar lapstreaks are being constructed for the club by Mr. Geo. Askey, of this city, of old and new materials. The new boats are about four inches narrower than the old ones, eight feet longer and somewhat shallower. They also have more shear fore and aft. They are copper riveted throughout, and the materials are carefully selected. A glance at the clean and exquisite workmanship would dispel any doubt as to the ability of the builder. The cost of the boats is $450, and the fund is over $100 short of this amount. To raise this difference the committee rely on the support of the membership and friends at a concert to be held on February 14. The boats, though bought with money independent of club funds, will be handed over to the association when they are completed and paid for, and will form a valuable addition to the assets.

Reference is made to the N. P. A. A. Regatta, held under the auspices of the club at Shawinigan last year. The next one is to be held at Nelson, in July.

The club has introduced ping pong and a tournament will soon be held. Basketball has proved a drawing card, as in other years, and a review of the games with other clubs is given.

In the general remarks, the committee stated that an extraordinary meeting of active members was held a week or so ago, when the feeling was expressed that the association should extend their sphere of usefulness, and in order that some definite line of action might be considered, a committee was appointed to obtain a list of the names of the members and friends at a concert to be held on February 14. The boats, though bought with money independent of club funds, will be handed over to the association when they are completed and paid for, and will form a valuable addition to the assets.

The committee ask the shareholders to give the matter their best consideration. The committee have the pleasure of announcing the association for the purpose of amending the by-laws of the association with reference to the election of the management committee and trustees, which will enable the business of the club to be carried out to better advantage.

The committee recommends: "That all regattas over which we have control be held as near our city as possible."

"That an effort be made to have crews in readiness for the Astoria and other regattas in which an opportunity is offered to participate. One crew can remain in training throughout the entire season. This year our senior crew suffered somewhat from the lateness of the N. P. A. A. O. date, and it was impossible for them to compete at Astoria, which was held last year."

"That a set of rules be prepared and strictly enforced for the guidance of members using club boats."

"That accommodations be prepared for the two new lapstreaks."

lution of many practical questions arising in the industry, such as the effects of fishing appliances, as in steam trawling, etc.

From Scotland Mr. Prince crossed the North Channel and spent two years of research amidst the Irish fisheries, paying special attention to the great mackerel fishery. Thence he returned to serve as secretary on the royal commission for Scotland of Fishery Bait Supply, of which Lord Tweedmouth, brother of Lady Aberdeen, was the chairman.

The work of this commission has perhaps more than any other been a great boon to the fishermen of Scotland, resulting as it did in the systematic protection and regulation of the bait beds. In 1890 he removed to England, serving on the commission investigating the mackerel and oyster beds of the coast.

An appointment to the chair of Natural History in the University of Glasgow, followed, together with a great deal of work amongst the fisheries of the West Coast of Scotland as well as the land fishery of a popular lecturer upon piscatorial and other scientific matters.

In 1892 the great importance of the Canadian fisheries was recognized by the then Conservative government, in the appointment of an expert adviser for the department of fisheries, and out of half a dozen distinguished anglers of the time Prof. Prince was the fortunate one, and thus has for 10 years back held what is by many considered as the highest position existing in his particular field of research.

Since then the professor has traversed the Dominion from end to end, and probably more than any has lived into the most secluded nooks and corners of the land. The great fresh water seas add much variety to his work, while at the same time vastly increasing the difficulties and the problems of his office.

As a lecturer, Mr. Prince's ability has long been well known in Canada, his is their great address for the year before the Royal Society of Canada, on "The Fishing Industry of the Dominion" being regarded by very many as the finest ever heard since the inception of that august body. Mr. Prince's popular lectures on scientific topics are also of a remarkably interesting sort, those on his great hobby being well illustrated with lantern scenes that cover the ground or rather the waters from the famous gathering of the fishery fleet off

A Word to Wives, Mothers and Daughters.

Paine's Celery Compound
Is the Great Home Physician and Builder of Health.

Today, the great popular home medicine for women of every age, is Paine's Celery Compound. It is the great health and strength-giver for wives, mothers and daughters. When you have any of numberless female complaints and ills of your sex, Paine's Celery Compound will give you a new and happy life.

Paine's Celery Compound is an invaluable medicine for young girls when their special womanly functions are disturbed or irregular. It imparts strength to every organ, gives rose cheeks, buoyancy of spirits, clear, bright eyes and general good health.

The many strong and grateful letters of praise sent in by thankful women restored by Paine's Celery Compound to health and vigor, amply prove all that is claimed for Dr. Phelps' wonderful prescription.

Beware of the "something just as good" offered by some dealers and druggists; see that the name PAINE'S is on each wrapper and bottle. Paine's Celery Compound is the kind that makes sick people well.

eight months from suppressed menstruation, and it effected my entire system until I became weak and debilitated, and at times felt that I had a hundred aches in as many places. I only used the Compound for a few weeks, but it wrought a change in me which I felt from the very beginning. I have been very regular since, have no pains, and find that my entire body is as if it were renewed. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to everybody."

Empress at Outer Wharf

White Liner Will Call There Hereafter on Way in From Orient.

Revenue Cutter McCulloch Returns From Cruise in Search of Condor.

R. M. S. Empress of China, Capt. Ardenhill, arrived at the Outer wharf last night, from Yokohama, and the first time for several years a white liner of the Canadian Pacific railway tied up at the Outer wharf at 6 o'clock last night, and remained there, debarking passengers, until 11 o'clock. This new order of things has been brought about by the change made whereby the liners are to be fumigated and disinfected before leaving their Oriental ports, and as the N. P. and N. Y. K. and other liners have been doing for some time past, the C. P. R. steamers will only call at William Head for inspection and come direct to Victoria. The Empress of China is the first steamer to make the new arrangements have been carried out.

Her arrival at the Outer wharf was not expected by the C. P. R. officials, who came down from Vancouver to meet the liner. The liner was reported about 3:30 p. m. passing Outer Point, and at 6 p. m. the steamer Otter, which was secured as tender, left the inner harbor with the usual coterie of officials, customs officers, and the Otter was leaving the harbor with Ship's Husband Pullerton on the quarterdeck beside Capt. Brown, he noticed a large steamer at the Outer wharf. It certainly looked like the Empress, and he called out, "Surely not. He rubbed his eyes, and a second look convinced him that it was surely the Empress, and sagaciously moved at the Outer wharf.

In the cabin of the Otter, Mr. Reid was discussing the egg producing qualities of the United States, and his auditors had settled down in their easy chairs in anticipation of the journey to the Outer wharf. The group in the cabin was hurriedly broken, and all scrambled on deck and to their surprise discovered that the liner was turned in to the wharf and the passengers were landed to allow of them boarding the vessel usually boarded at William Head.

The Empress brought 14 passengers, of whom four left the steamer here. The passengers were: R. W. Austin, B. A. Clarke, W. T. Wheatly and Dr. A. H. Woods. Other passengers were K. H. Daniel, Louis Gayat, T. G. Goward, Lieut. G. M. Griffith, H. A. Morrison, P. H. Nichols, F. Thomas and J. Ewert. There were 160 steerage, 38 for Victoria. The cargo amounted to 2,400 tons measurement. 1,400 tons weight. It is as follows: 1,455 pack weight, 1,622 of raw silk, 133 of raw silk, 201 of silk goods, 34 of cigars, and one of opium, and some miscellaneous freight, a total in all of 29,634 packages.

The Empress brought no news of the overdue steamer Polminia. She sighted nothing but one sailing ship seen yesterday in-bound. The passage was a most erratic one, with frequent strong winds. China left Victoria just before the heavy gale in which the Mattheawan and Condor are feared to have been lost on December 3. One of the quartermasters of the Empress is the son of Capt. J. H. Hastings, mate of the lost collier Mattheawan. He received the news of the loss of his father's vessel in letters which reached him when the Empress was at Woosung. The vessels on which father and son were had sailed out on the same storm, one passing safely through it, and the other being lost. The fact that the Empress had been in the last storm caused the starting of rumors of accident to her, which were promptly shown to be incorrect.

THE CONDOR.
Revenue Cutter McCulloch Returns Without Success From Her Cruise.

Advices are being anxiously awaited from the survey steamer Egeria and the revenue cutter Grant, the former of which has been out eight and the latter 10 days scouring the Vancouver island coast, and in the expectation that some clue may be given to the fate of the missing Condor which sailed from Esquimalt on December 2 with 140 souls on board. The steamer Queen City is due today from Ahousset coast, and is expected to bring further news from Ahousset, where the boat identified as that of the Condor was found by Indians on January 6 last. The Queen City on all probability reached Alberni last night, but as the wire is down to that point, she could not report.

The U. S. revenue cutter McCulloch returned to San Francisco on Friday last after having spent a week in cruising about in search for the Condor without any success. The McCulloch, Capt. Failing, left San Francisco on Monday, the 24th, and steamed up along the coast towards the Columbia river, and then stood out to sea for 250 miles and cruised about between the latitude of the Columbia and the Golden Gate. The steamer was on all probability in search of the Condor.

SHINANO STRANDED.

Unlucky N.-Y.-K. Liner Went Ashore at Yokohama.

The Shinano Maru, which returned to port during the storm of Christmas night, was again driven ashore at Yokohama, on her arrival at Yokohama, on her resumed voyage she grounded off Hommoku, not far from Yokohama, during a dense fog. The passengers and crew were taken to safety in steam launches, and the N.-Y.-K. sent three powerful tugs to the Shinano. She was floated 24 hours later and put into port damaged slightly as a result of her stranding.

The press of China, which brought news of the stranding, also brought word that the German steamer Clara, running between Hongkong and Haiphong, was wrecked near Hoihow on the 12th of January. Forty-two of the passengers, and the majority of the crew were saved, and brought to Hongkong by the French steamer Hanoi. The captain, chief mate, first and second engineers, and four Europeans and 12 native passengers were missing, but a boat was reported picked up by another steamer which would have some of those on board.

REINSURANCE ADVANCING.

Overdue Sugar-Laden Steamer Polminia Now Quoted at 15 per Cent.

The owners of the Dutch steamer Polminia are getting more anxious for the overdue sugar steamer, and the rate of reinsurance quoted on her has been advanced from 10 to 15 per cent. The Polminia is now out 50 days from Sourabaya, Java, and 25 days from Moji, Japan. Many fear that she may have broken her shaft, or suffered similar injury as that which delayed her sister steamer, the Welholms. Other tramps bringing sugar for the British Columbia sugar refinery, have long been waiting for the Polminia. In 1890 the British steamer Buckingham took 50 days to this port from Java, having sailed on August 20 of that year and arrived here on October 19. In the same year the British steamer Royalist occupied 61 days in making the same voyage. She sailed from Java on October 19 and arrived here on December 19. In 1898 the steamer Loughborough took 61 days to this port from Java to this port.

MARINE NOTES.

Steamer Majestic was delayed in leaving last night, from Yokohama, and is now charging about 200 tons of cargo from the China Mutual steamer Pakling, which did not call here on her way in from the Orient as was expected.

The steamer Olympia of the Northern Pacific line is due on Saturday from the Orient.

LEGAL NOTES.

County Court Trials—Chamber Applications—Supreme Court Adjudged.

Mr. Justice Martin presided in County court yesterday and heard the evidence in the suit of the late Mrs. Chong, in which plaintiff claims $800 for wages. The defence alleged that they did not engage the plaintiff to work for them and that the liability, if any, rested on another Chinaman to whom they had subcontracted the work. The defence was conflicting in many particulars and His Lordship adjourned the hearing till today.

Mao Mon Hong v. Wing Chong, a claim for wages similar to the above, will also be heard today. Lang & Co. v. Martin appear for the plaintiffs, and Higgins & Elliott for defendants, in both cases.

Another case set down for hearing today is that of Ryley v. McCallan, in which plaintiff claims $100 for wrongful dismissal.

In chambers, Mr. Justice Walkem made an order allowing the administrator of John Poole, deceased, to pass his accounts and take the administration bond of the estate of the late John Poole.

In Croutart v. Croutart an order was granted for payment of money out of court. Anderson for plaintiff; Mills for defendant.

The February sittings of the Supreme court for the trial of civil cases, opened yesterday. Mr. Justice Walkem presiding. As there were no cases ready for trial, the court was adjourned. The case of Milne v. Macdonnell was set down for trial for February 10.

The extensive authority of parents under the Chinese laws is well known. A Chinaman of forty years, whose aged mother dogged him every day, shed tears in the company of one of his friends.

"Why do you weep?" he was asked. "Alas, things are not as they used to be," answered the devoted son. "The poor woman's arm quiver feebly every day!"

WELCOME NEWS FOR STUDENTS

McGill University Will Accept Intermediate Exams in Lieu of Matriculation.

For nearly a year past the Superintendent of Education has been in communication with the authorities of McGill university on the subject of admitting students of the High schools of British Columbia who have passed the intermediate examination to the university, on presentation of their certificates, without having to take the university matriculation examination. The provincial department of Education grants second-class certificates to McGill university without subjecting them to the prescribed examination, provided they take the Normal school course, and requested McGill to reciprocate.

The McGill authorities have acquiesced to the request of the department, and yesterday Mr. Alexander Robinson, superintendent of education, had the satisfaction of receiving the following letter from the registrar of McGill:

Montreal, P. Q., 27th Jan., 1902.
Alexander Robinson, Esq., Superintendent of Education, Victoria, B. C.:

Sir: Referring to your favor of the 12th and my acknowledgment of the 26th ultimo, I have pleasure in stating that the matriculation board has decided to accept pro tanto the intermediate examination of the department of Education in lieu of matriculation examination; that is to say, that we will exempt a candidate for matriculation in any of our departments from examination in any subject for which he presents your intermediate certificate—except, of course, our mathematics, Part II.

I have the honor to be, Your obedient servant,

W. VAUGHAN.

THE YOUNG WIFE.

Another Clever Performance by the Clara Mathes Co.

The Clara Mathes company showed to great advantage in the bright comedy, "The Young Wife," at the A. O. U. W. hall last evening. Miss Clara Mathes, as Ethel Douglas, the wife of Clarence Douglas, the adopted son of Judson Douglas, was excellent. Her part was a difficult one, but she portrayed it cleverly all through. Mr. P. W. Seven-Oaks, as Clarence Douglas, was at home in the character, as was Mr. H. Edmonds as St. John, the detective. Miss Emma Mathes, as Mrs. Douglas, was very pretty and attractive. Her love scene with Horace Dobbins, the country youth, Mr. W. Marsh, created roars of laughter. The play consisted of four acts, which were well staged, and the very being very good. The last act was particularly good. A very realistic scene was enacted when Detective St. John accuses Mrs. Douglas, in the presence of her husband, of the murder of his father. Mr. M. W. Marsh, as Horace, who was going home to get "polished," was exceedingly funny. His conversation, manner and attire, sent the audience into fits of laughter.

The specialties between the acts were very enjoyable, notably Miss Emma Mathes in songs and dances, and Mr. P. W. Seven-Oaks in comic singing and dancing. His performance was a splendid one, and the audience insisted upon a double encore.

This evening's performance will be "The Queen of Hearts." The company is deserving of liberal patronage, as it is composed of capable artists, and its presentations are in every way creditable.

According to a despatch from Brisbane, Premier Philp, of Queensland, in a manifesto, professes disappointment with the commonwealth, which, he says, many Australians would gladly see dissolved.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A Washington despatch says that United States Senator Elkins is working with a view to securing reciprocity with Canada.

In his weekly report to the War Office, Lord Kitchener states that for the week ending February 1, 29 boers were killed, 6 wounded, 142 made prisoners and 48 surrendered.

It is reported in London that Lord Salisbury will retire from the premiership at the end of the war in South Africa.

A thousand Maoris have volunteered to do garrison duty anywhere in the British dominions, with the object of relieving a similar number of British troops for service in South Africa.

The large and fashionable congregation which attended a memorial service officially described as a "requiem for the repose of the soul of our late sovereign, Queen Victoria," at St. Matthew's church, Westminster, yesterday, was greatly scandalized by the conduct of a number of anti-rationalists, who, immediately after the service was concluded, stood up in the church and declared "the service was a blasphemous insult to Queen Victoria's memory." "This is not God's house," said one objector; "this is a joss house."

PERSONALS.

Mrs. T. M. Miller and son returned yesterday after a two months stay in Idaho, where they were called by the serious illness of Mrs. Miller's father.

Mr. H. K. Kidd, a snuffbox maker, Van Anda, came down last evening and is registered at the Dominion hotel.

A difficult one, but she portrayed it cleverly all through. Mr. P. W. Seven-Oaks, as Clarence Douglas, was at home in the character, as was Mr. H. Edmonds as St. John, the detective. Miss Emma Mathes, as Mrs. Douglas, was very pretty and attractive. Her love scene with Horace Dobbins, the country youth, Mr. W. Marsh, created roars of laughter.

is serious, because it predisposes the bronchial tubes and lungs to more serious diseases, as pneumonia and pleurisy, which are very often fatal.

"For over two years I have been in a run down condition. My bronchial tubes were very weak, which gave me a hacking cough. My doctor was unable to cure me, and that the heart would become affected. About two and a half months ago I commenced to use Powley's Liquidified Ozone, which relieved me of my cough, and the heart action is again good. My appetite is in fine condition and I sleep well. My vitality is also good and my work does not tire me at all now. I am greatly encouraged from the wonderful benefit I have received from Powley's Ozone."

POINT ELLICE BRIDGE.

The decision of the government to ask the legislature to vote $30,000 in aid of the bridge at Point Ellice will be very well received by the people of Victoria.
When the Colonist, a year or so ago, suggested that something of this kind ought to be done, a Vancouver paper objected to the government contributing anything towards a bridge within the municipality. There is nothing in such an objection. If a public work were purely municipal in its nature, it would hardly be proper to ask assistance from the provincial treasury, but the Point Ellice bridge is more than municipal in its character. If only the people of Victoria West had to be considered, a less expensive bridge would suffice than that rendered necessary by the fact that the structure is on the highway between the Naval Station and an extensive suburban and rural district and the business part of the city. It is therefore only right that the city should be relieved of a part of the burden caused by the necessity for the more expensive bridge. We do not think that the government will experience any difficulty in securing the support of the House to the proposed grant. The amount will greatly strengthen the hands of those who wish to see a bridge erected at Point Ellice that will be in keeping with the requirements of such an important thoroughfare.

THE QUARANTINE STATION.

Persons, who were confined at the Quarantine Station recently, while giving Dr. Watt and his assistants every credit for their efforts to make them comfortable, complain that the accommodations are not what they ought to be, at least at this season of the year.
In the summer, when tent life is a recreation not to be despised, quarantined people, who care to go to the expense, can be as comfortable as they wish, but in the winter this is impossible. Complaint is made that the facilities for bathing are extremely crude and hardly fit for any but the strongest individuals.
There is also a lack of accommodation for women, who must herd together without distinction, a condition of things that must be a source of great discomfort to some.

William Head is probably the most important quarantine station in Canada.
It is on one of the world's greatest highways, and it should be made something of which Canada would under no circumstances need have call to feel ashamed.
The country has an excellent officer in Dr. Watt, and his devoted services ought to be recognized by placing at his command all the appliances, which are necessary to make the enforced detention under his care as little onerous as possible to those, who are unfortunate enough to have to undergo it.

CANADA MISUNDERSTOOD.

A great man has arisen in Washington, D.C., who, for the sake of mankind, hides his identity, like the Veiled Prophet of Korassan, but communi-cates to the Post of that city some observations regarding Canada. This great man declares his opinion to be that the Treaty of 1825, determining the Alaskan Boundary, ought to be considered as barred by a statute of limitations, and he adds that the title of the British Empire to British Columbia and a lot more territory on this Continent is of the most shadowy nature. He adds that we have no right to send men to take part in the Boer war, and generally proceeds to wipe us off the map. The astounding thing about the letter is not that any one wrote it, for there are people in the United States prepared to write anything, but that such a paper as the Washington Post should give prominence to a statement striking at the very foundation of national honor.

The idea that a treaty can be barred by any limitation of time is too monstrous to be tolerated by civilized communities, for if such is to be the case, then there is no value in treaties, for manifestly they will hold good only as until one of the parties to them feels strong enough to break them.

Apart from this feature of the letter, which is certainly discreditable to all concerned in its production, the great man, who writes it, has contributed something to the galaxy of nations.
Whether or not he knows anything about Canada cannot be inferred, for we have seen men, well versed in everything pertaining to the Canadian Dominion and the Canadian character, and who moreover were British subjects, prostitute their talents and their pens at so much a column, to misrepresent Canadian sentiment. There is no doubt that the people of the United States as a rule know very little about our country, and are therefore easily misled by clever writers with no regard for the truth. Many visitors come to Victoria from the United States, and they are often extremely inquisitive about our institutions. The questions they ask are of the most amazing character. This ignorance exists in circles where one would not look for it. For example, a Seattle paper not long ago spoke of the burden upon Canada of the maintenance of the British army and navy. There is a widespread impression in the United States, and a book on "Civics" used in some of the public schools badly asserts it, that in this country the laws are made by the sovereign. In this connection a contrast is drawn between Canada and the Republic by pointing out that in the latter the people make the laws, whereas in the former they are made by a person several thousand miles away. Some Americans, otherwise well-informed, find it difficult to believe that Canadians are not chafing under British connection. The public schools are responsible for this amazing ignorance of their next door neighbor. A graduate of a ladies' college once expressed surprise on learning that Canada was at least equal in area to the United States. A graduate of a men's college in Oregon, who was city editor on a newspaper, corrected a manuscript, in which the writer stated that British Columbia was in Canada, for he said: "Every one knows that Canada does not reach to the Pacific Ocean." These strange mistakes were made within a few years. A Portland business man, who spent a few months in Victoria some years ago, expressed on his return the greatest surprise that people here presumed to criticize the government. One reason for the prevalence of these extraordinary notions is that correspondents, who write up official functions in Canada for the United States papers, magnify the importance of the pure formalities. This is good newspaper work, which should aim to make the most of what will be most attractive to the reader, but, unfortunately, the reader usually reads into the descriptions ideas which the writer did not intend to convey. Formal courtesy is mistaken for servility; respect for the head of the state is confused with subjection to a ruler. Because we all stand up, whether our places are on the floor of the legislature or only in the gallery, when the Lieutenant-Governor comes in,
our visitors run away with the notion that we must stand up. In many of the legislatures of that country, members, even, do not stand up when the chaplain prays. Canadians are not understood in the United States, but we are glad to see a greater appreciation of them shown in recent years. Canadian characters are becoming common in American fiction.

"Shall we fight Laurier?" asks a correspondent of the Times. The question, like all other startling propositions, is interesting, but so far as we are able to discover, no one proposes to "fight Laurier."

The offer of the Maoris to do garrison duty anywhere in the British Empire is a remarkable tribute to the British method of dealing with conquered nations. The Maoris fought us far more determinedly than even the Boers have done; but they accepted the inevitable and see the wisdom of having done so.

The Times expresses great appreciation of the point made by the Colonist as to the effect of the American contention in the matter of the Alaskan Boundary, upon the question of territorial waters. Since the Colonist's article was written we have been told that the Minister of Justice has expressed a similar view.

It is announced that the Union Pacific Railway Company proposes to expend during the present year $25,000,000 in the betterment of its Western connections. The avowed purpose of this large outlay is to get ready for the great trade to be built up with the Orient. This emphasizes the contention of the Colonist for the adoption of a policy of Western development by the government of Canada. By the way, this expression, which seemed so funny to a contemporary not a thousand miles away, has been adopted by the Toronto Globe, which re-joices to see in the proposed expenditure by the Canadian Pacific of $20,000,000 an important step in that direction.

PROTECTION FOR ANGLERS

Tourist Association Make Important Representations to Fish Commission.

At 5 o'clock yesterday evening a deputation, headed by His Worship Mayor Hayward, and composed of members of the Tourist Association, waited upon Professor Prince and the members of the fishery commission at their rooms in the Grand hotel, to discuss various aspects of the fishing questions that are of peculiar interest to Victoria as a tourists' resort. Amongst those present were Aldermen McCandless, Yates, Kinsman and Worthington, and Messrs. Boggs, Courtney, Gordon, Fraser, Luzzin, Jones, Galbraith, Clarke, Hartnagle and Capt. Walbran.

The first point introduced was the question of net fishing in the Victoria harbor.

A few years ago, Mr. Boggs stated, there was very good fishing to be had up the harbor, but that fine stretch of water was now depleted through the netting of the Greek and Italian fishermen, and its worth as an angling water destroyed. Some years ago their netting had been stopped, but it had been again taken up, and to a certain degree given a color of right. Of course herring ran up the harbor, but the netting carried on at the upper end was destruction to all sorts of fish. Nets were fastened together and stretched from side to side above the gorge, while the fishermen beating the water drove all the fish down to their destruction, and so where once good trout fishing was to be had, there was not a fish left. The committee desired the harbor waters closed to netting up to a line drawn from Macaulay Point to Clover Point.

After some general discussion, Prof. Prince suggested that perhaps their views might be met if the waters were protected from netting above Point Ellice bridge. This he was prepared to recommend, and with it the netting carried on at the upper end was destruction to all sorts of fish. Nets were fastened together and stretched from side to side above the gorge, while the fishermen beating the water drove all the fish down to their destruction, and so where once good trout fishing was to be had, there was not a fish left. The committee desired the harbor waters closed to netting up to a line drawn from Macaulay Point to Clover Point.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

GOLD.

Sir,—It seems probable that the prosperity of Canada is owing not to any government policy, whether Conservative or Liberal, but to gold and the Boer war. Neither the Canadian nor any other government created or discovered the gold, which during the past sixty years has revolutionized socially and politically the whole civilized world. Whether gold be of celestial or infernal origin, for good or evil, it and the gold miner are answerable for what is termed the progress and advancement of the world during the Victorian, or so-called golden era, when gold was discovered in California less than sixty years ago, old countries threw off their sleepiness and entered on a new life. The people became excited and the cursed hunger for gold set in. The auriferous discoveries in Australia increased this, until the desire to reach the gold became a positive mania, and when in 1858, gold was found in British Columbia, it added to the maniacal excitement. Many thousands wished to reach the gold fields at once. This led to the building of larger and ever larger steamships and other gigantic works; railways which were comparatively infants then, were brought into greater activity; foreign lines projected and completed through almost unknown and sparsely settled countries. Science, only in its infancy, was called upon to accommodate the new condition of affairs. Gold became plentiful, the arts flourished, and with it the era of living and domesticity disappeared, gaiety, extravagance and amusements became the order of the day. During this period the Crimean war ensued.

Let us now look to our own Vancouver Island Colony, whether singly or united with the mainland of British Columbia, and doubtless be apparent that their ups and downs, the prosperity or poverty have always been coincident with the abundance of gold or its failure, the influx or efflux of people in consequence, and not in consequence of any government policy. As a matter of fact, it seems that the failure of gold or its poverty, that is to say, straitened financial and commercial conditions, led to the union of Vancouver Island Colony and the mainland Colony, and subsequently, for similar reasons, to confederation with Canada. Of course, there were several other urgent reasons rendering confederation advisable, not necessary to be spoken of now, save that the British Columbia government had not sufficient means to meet the demands of its very large domain. During the earlier years of Vancouver Island Colony, the lamentable civil war of the United States occurred. This caused a good deal of money to be sent in this country during this period. That is to say, many Americans lived here as a matter of choice, or necessity.

When British Columbia entered on confederation, Canada herself was by no means in a very flourishing condition, and the gold mines of British Columbia had comparatively given out. At this time a Conservative ministry existed with what was perhaps the most brilliant prospect of the Dominion. It is humbly submitted that Klondike gold discoveries, with which the government was connected, took place just about the time of the fall of the Conservative government from power. Let it be further submitted that to British Columbia and Klondike the advancement of the Dominion is due and, further, that the unhappy occurrence of the Boer war lent wings to very material assistance, when the gold fields, of course there will be more or less of a collapse, excepting, indeed, other and beneficial changes occur. This, however, is more or less accidental. But to come to close quarters. Of course it is impossible to put down in figures the benefits received by the Dominion on account of the unshared Boer war. It is reported that the population of the whole of the Dominion has, during the past ten years, increased about five hundred thousand bodies.

The population of British Columbia has increased during the same period say one hundred thousand. Put this and the Klondike together, say one hundred and twenty-five thousand for there are in the fact, the extraordinary fact stares us in the face, that about one-quarter of the increase of the population of the whole of Canada results from the increase of population in the Pacific portion of the Dominion, and assuredly, in the main, on account of the gold discoveries with which the governments, Federal or Dominion, had nothing to do. At the same time, the great influence of the C. P. R. lent a helping hand. The income received by the Federal government from these 125,000 people is at $15 per head, or at some say, $17 per head, amounts in round numbers to two million dollars annually, payable from the Klondike and the income must be much greater. The Klondike revenue is undoubtedly, owing to the unshared gold. Add to all this the number of comers and goers, the increase of business in the Eastern provinces to supply these people, and then the enormous benefit the government also admits generally has derived from the Pacific portion of the Dominion will be apparent and astounding. No wonder the Dominion government boasts of its prosperity—but is not the chief advancement, whether in population or income, owing to British Columbia and the Klondike region? What this province gets from the Dominion government others most competent have spoken of. Let it be, however, stated, that the people return to the Klondike, and that it remains stationary whilst the rate of taxation is constantly increasing. The Klondike ought to receive their legitimate share of the increased taxation and income, something other. It is a question of political honesty and morality! Political faith is not always productive of good works; however, all I wish to show is that the prosperity of Canada has arisen from the gold of British Columbia and the Klondike regions, as also from the Boer war. Of course, the C. P. R. has been of very material assistance, but what would be the condition of Eastern Canada today had British Columbia not joined the confederation? This is a question of history, and a party question. Surely B. C. requires some better consideration, acknowledging its assistance from the Boer war, and Canada of today and the Dominion government than great and constant bleeding and a supply of water gruel to sustain life. The money of the Federal government somewhat resembles the treatment of poor Oliver Twist by BUMBLES.

FATHER PAT MEMORIAL.

Sir,—I take the liberty of requesting space in your valuable journal to draw attention to the effort that is being made by the friends and admirers of the late Rev. H. H. Pat, to raise a fund to be expended in some suitable memorial in recognition of his splendid life. He was a native of the British Columbia, but because he resided in Rossland for a considerable period and thereby especially endeared himself to this community, the citizens of Rossland, at a thoroughly representative public meeting held on January 27th, appointed a committee to arrange for a fund for the purpose mentioned. It was decided that subscriptions should be limited to $1.00, and all those who desired to contribute should contribute to the fund.

With the most gratifying promptness, the people of Rossland, regardless of religious belief, have very generously responded to the appeal. The committee has been able to include "Father Pat's" friends in Victoria and all others who knew him and respect his memory, and now invite their contribution to the fund.

All subscriptions to the "Father Pat" Memorial Fund should be sent to Mr. J. S. Rossland, who has kindly consented to act as honorary treasurer.

Crofton, B.C.

The Future Smelting Centre of the North West Coast

Situated at Osborne Bay, on the East Coast of Vancouver Island, the terminus of the Lenora Mount Sicker Railway.

Lots will be placed on the market in a few days.

For particulars, apply to Lenora Mount Sicker Copper Mining Company, Limited, Non-Personal Liability, McGregor Block, Victoria.

TO INVESTORS;

The majority of towns in British Columbia depend on the mineral resources in their vicinity, whether of coal, gold, silver or copper. When the extraction of these from the earth ceases to be a profitable investment, the value of the real estate in such towns ceases, but with a Smelting industry to support a town, when same is situated on the sea, on which cargoes of ore can be brought from any port in the universe, the permanency of the town is assured, and as the mineral resources of the Northwest of America are developed, the smelter plant at Crofton will be enlarged and so increase the value of the real estate
